Hi Pedro,

Thank you for your letter. It is fun to write to someone in Spain. I will tell you something about myself and my family.

I 13 years old. I black hair and brown eyes. My sister Sara brown hair, like my mum and she green eyes, like my dad. Sara

..... 10 years old. She is fun! We good friends. And you? What colour eyes do you ?

Do you have any brothers or sisters? It winter here and it is cold, but I not afraid of the cold.

I a nice warm coat and snow boots, for when I go outside. Is it cold in Spain?

Please send me a letter soon.

All the best,
Aaron

You have probably heard that Scotsmen often don't wear trousers.

They wear kilts. Some things you should know about kilts: The great kilt is the full outfit of a Scotsman.

The part that looks like a skirt, but which you can never call a skirt, is called the small kilt or modern kilt.

Kilts are worn at military ceremonies, but also at weddings.

Men wearing a kilt don't just not wear trousers, they don't wear pants either.

The pattern on the kilt is called tartan. Each Scottish family (or 'clan') has their own tartan: every man from the same clan wears the same kilt.
